Press Release

Oceania Power & Solutions announces the appointment of Greg Honisett to the position of Sales & Technical Manager.

Oceania Power & Solutions (OPS) is the exclusive Australian distributor for Mitsubishi Marine Engines, manufactured in Japan by Mitsubishi Heavy Industries.

“We are delighted to have an experienced industry professional of Greg’s calibre join our team” said OPS director, Nick Flavel.

“Greg has around 30 years’ experience working with major American and Japanese engine and component manufacturers with a special focus on the marine industry. He brings a strong combination of technical, mechanical and commercial skills to our team and he will be available Australia-wide to assist our growing customer-base”.

Having spent a life time working in the diesel industry, Greg is superbly credentialed for the position.

“I grew up in Geraldton and spent a lot of my time as a youth going to sea with my uncle who was a professional fisherman,” Greg said.

“Ever since those days, I have spent time on the water and have a natural affinity with boats and boating at all levels. Along the way I owned a heap of ski boats and had lots of fun in the process.

“The position at OPS, representing the Mitsubishi engine range could not have been better suited for me given my background with diesel products and marine applications”.

One of Greg’s biggest tasks has been to become familiar with a new engine and product range.

“Mitsubishi has a completely different Marine and Industrial range of diesel engines, the mechanical diesel technology that remains in the Mitsubishi engine range is a decided benefit when dealing with the customers who still have an preference for this technology”.

In welcoming Greg Honisett to OPS, Nick Flavel acknowledged the years of experience and expert knowledge that Greg brings to this new position.

“Greg has a wealth of experience in the marine and industrial sector. His background and knowledge of the marketplace is invaluable. We’re already seeing the benefits of having Greg on board and no doubt in the future, his impact will be even more significant.”

In addition to its role as exclusive distributor for Mitsubishi Marine Engines in Australia, OPS carries a large range of industrial and marine power generation sets under its own brand with a range of first class engines and alternators available. This is in addition to an extensive engine spare parts, consumables and lubricants inventory available through its related companies, Filter Discounters and Branded Filters.
